

Novel Research to Evaluate Metformin and Insulin Therapy in Overweight Adolescents With Type 1

Jan 2, 2014

T1D Exchange, the first program of the new nonprofit organization Unitio, has received funding from JDRF to study the use of metformin—a drug used as first-line treatment for type 2 diabetes—in combination with standard insulin therapy in overweight adolescents with type 1 diabetes. <Media Release> <sup>[1]</sup>

---

Source URL: <http://diabetes.ucsf.edu/news/novel-research-evaluate-metformin-and-insulin-therapy-overweight-adolescents-type-1>

Links:

[1] https://unitio.org/pages/t1d-exchange-awarded-2-8m-grant-by-jdrf-to-study-metformin-and-type-1-diabetes/?utm\_source=gluteam&utm\_medium=twitter&utm\_campaign=t1dexchange\_grant\_from\_jdrf